

PLANNING PRACTICE—NEW TECHNOLOGY & TOOLS

TenEleven Galleria—Camden, South Carolina

Date: July 16, 2010

Please plan to join us for the 2010 SCAPA Summer Conference. This conference will focus on new technologies, innovative tools, and imaginative strategies to address planning needs and public investment in the process.

8:00 am - Registration and Continental Breakfast

8:45 am - Welcome

9:00 am - Light Imprint: A Tool for Stormwater Management (1.25 CE/CM)
Moderator: Monica Carney AICP CNU-A, Designer, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company

Presenters:

1. Paul Pattison, Senior Engineer, URS Corporation
2. Thomas Low AIA CNU-A LEED AICP, Partner, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company
3. Guy Pearlman RLA CNU-A, Project Manager, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company

Session participants will understand the organization of the Light Imprint Handbook and the interactive database on the Light Imprint website. They will gain knowledge of unique Light Imprint characteristics of historic and new communities through case studies that focus on sustainable design and good urban planning techniques. They will be able to specify and use the sixty-four tools that make up the Light Imprint matrix for projects ranging in size from the lot to the block to the neighborhood to the region. They will be able to organize treatment trains for stormwater using Light Imprint paving, channeling, filtration, and storage tools.

10:15 am - Break

10:30 am - Using Livability as an LRTP Project Ranking Criteria (1.25 CE/CM)
Moderator: Skip Grkovic AICP, Director of Planning and Economic Development, City of North Augusta, SC

Presenter:

1. Jeff Carroll, Senior Transportation Planner, Wilbur Smith Associates

In response to the ranking criteria developed by SCDOT pursuant to the requirements Act 114 (2007), the ARTS MPO (Aiken County) developed a revised set of project prioritization criteria and added one additional criterion, Livability. This session will include a demonstration of a quantitative ranking tool created to manage the project ranking process.

11:45 am - Lunch and Introduction of Candidates for SCAPA Offices

1:00 pm - A Streetcar Case Study: Stop Location and Sprawl Repair (1.25 CE/CM)
Moderator: Monica Carney AICP CNU-A, Designer, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company

Presenters:

1. Thomas Low AIA CNU-A LEED AICP, Partner, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company
2. Guy Pearlman RLA CNU-A, Project Manager, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company

The Charlotte Streetcar project includes an analysis of new techniques for locating streetcar stops through a four step process including: Cool Spots Spatial Analysis, the City's Future as Transit Metropolis, Emerging Transit Oriented Developments (TOD's), and Economic Scenario Modeling. The session will also explore implementing Light Imprint strategies as a tool to sprawl repair the new streetcar corridor.

2:15 pm - Break

2:30 pm - Camden Vision Plan and Form-Based Code (1.25 CE/CM)
Moderator: Monica Carney AICP CNU-A, Designer, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company

Presenters:

1. Shawn Putnam CFM, Planner, City of Camden, SC
2. Thomas Low AIA CNU-A LEED AICP, Partner, Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company
3. Wade Luther AICP, Downtown Manager, City of Camden, SC

The Vision Camden plan and Form-Based Code highlight the process of revitalizing a small town by using new ideas, technologies, and innovative strategies. The two charrettes that have been completed for the City of Camden have encouraged community participation and have helped direct the overall goals for the community.

PLANNING PRACTICE—NEW TECHNOLOGY & TOOLS

Chartered in 1732, Camden, South Carolina is known as the "Oldest Inland City," in the state. Renowned for its history and equine industry, the area is home to several Revolutionary War battle sites, while also being known as the "Steeplechase Capital of the World" with the Colonial and Carolina Cup Races in the Fall and Spring, respectively. The City of Camden maintains a rich identity offering a sophisticated culture with the charm of a traditional southern small town. Although the City of Camden is well entrenched in history, you will find no shortage of progressive planning practices that continue to enrich the quality of life for residents and visitors alike.
